John Chiang, California State Controller

"We must seize the opportunity to make sound investment decisions and protect our environment. California has been at the forefront. We can do much more,"
- John Chiang at United Nations Investor Summit on Climate Risk

Controller John Chiang was elected in November 2006 to serve as California's Chief Fiscal Officer. The Controller is the chair of the Franchise Tax Board, and serves on 76 boards and commissions including CalPERS and CalSTRS, the nation's first and second largest public pension funds, and the State Lands Commission.
